"GREAT WESTERN."

Best investment in the world to-day. S. H. Watkins, Woodlawn, Ill., says: "I saw the dividends of the stockholders in the ship; of ore, and ore enough to make par value of the stock; was astounded to see the amount of work done, and the amount of ore in sight." Judge Henry Rickel. Cedar Rapids, Ia., says: "I tell you, as agre as you and I live, the Atterthought will make for unes for stockholders of the Great Western." G. W. Langlet says. "Take smelter from the Moustain Copper mines. I do not see how Great Western stockholders could crange Atterthought for Mountain Copper." James Sallee. San Francisco, says: "Afterthought is one of the richest mines in California." M. E. Dittmar says: "Afterthought alone makes Gre. to Western a gilt-edge, high-grade stock." H. H. Hunter, mining engineer, says: "Afterthought is too best mine in Shasta County."

Hundreds of other stockholders visiting the mines are more than pleased. We say that in huying Great Western gold stock at 10 cents a share, for every 10 cents you lay cown you are getting a dollar in return. The par value is a dollar. If you want an interest in real mines buy Great Western. Our smelter is being rushed to completion. Put in ten, twenty, fifty, a hundred, a thousand into Great Western at 16 cents, and lay the foundation which will make you incopendent.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 6.—A serious accident occurred on the Harvey's Lake branch of the Wilkesbarre and Wyoming Valley Traction Company this afternoon, in which one person was killed and seven badly injured. The car with a trailer was going about thirty miles an hour when it left the track and went down an embankment twenty feet into a creek. The connecting pin of the cars pulled out and the trailer did not go down the bank. Mrs. James Wolfe of Luzerne was instantly killed.

The injured are:

Wm. Epstein of Scranton; side crushed and shoulder broken.

Frank Rogall of Wilkesbarre; arm, leg and back injured.

Fred Matthews of Scranton; badly bruised.

George Bradford. Scranton: side and arm crushed.

Hester's annual New Orleans Cotton Exchange report has been issued in full He puts the cotton report of 1902-08 at 10.727 .-559 bales, an increase of 46,879 over that of 1901-02, an increase of 344.137 over that of 1900-01, and an increase of 1,291,143 over that of 1899-1900. He says that compared with that year, in round figures, Texas, including Indian Territory, has decreased to the relief of the money market, sentiment was more cheerful and the professional element sought to take advantage of the changed outlook.

The records show, however, that these efforts were carried on for about three hours, when they suddenly ceased. It was more apparent to the originators of the movement than to any one else that when orders were given to sell there was no one to whom they could sell except themselves. The result was that the old prices were established.

From that incident until the end of the week the market backed and filled and drifted aimlessly about like a rudderless ship. The stagnation became more pronounced toward the end of the week, when the market failed to reflect developments favorable or unfavorable.

This pronounced dullness was in every way satisfactory. From the point of view of the betterment of the money market the stagnation assisted the improvement which is slowly becoming apparent.

the discount rate of the Bank of England from 3 to 4 per cent was a master which ordinarily would have affected the local money market. Under the dull conditions with little or no demands, the news was received with equaniminty.

The full effect of the action of the Bank of England will probably be feit later in the present month, when the movement of funds South and West is at its height. At that period the sentimental effect of the immediate possibility of gold imports would have been a factor upon which to fall back. Now, however, the action of the Bank of England in attracting funds to London and placing a barrier on gold to London and piscing a barrier on gold exports will make it harder to draw as sistance from London.

GOMPERS WILL REPLY TO PARRY.

American Federation of Labor' President Is Expected to Make Scathing Address.

Total Value of Crop, as Predicted | Greatest Celebration of the Kind Ever Held in Indiana Will Take Place at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 6.-Unless conditions altogether unforeseen should arise to prevent the completing of the programme, to-morrow will see the greatest Labor Day celebration that has ever occurred in Indiana.

the speech by Samuel Compers, president of the American Federation of Labor. In substance, it is already known that Mr. Gompers's address will have not a little to do with D. M. Parry, labor's foe, and W. Parks, who to-day is the here of Indianapolis laboring men. Just what Mr. Gompers will have to say about the two men no one knows. Conjecture, however, based upon a brief conversation with the federation's president, would have it that Mr. Gompers will picture Parks in glowing terms, while with Parry Mr. Gompers will unloosen all the sarcasm he can muster, and in rhetorical periods as well as in finished arguments will seerch the manufacturers' president unmercifully. From Mr. Parry's secretary it is learned that Parry himself will not remain in the city during the celebration. Mr. Gompers to-night declined to be interviewed regarding the burden of his address to-morrow. He was asked as to what he will have to say regarding Parks: What can one say?" he repiled quickly, "save to voice the universal sentiment of organized labor? Ask any union man on the streets what opinion he has of Parks. His answer will be a fair criterion of that portion of my address to-morrow.

"As for Parry." he continued, "after he declined to meet me in fair debate, he left it for me to present his side and the side of organized labor. I shall endeavor to be fair, but I can say now that, after I have spent weeks carefully going over the ground, Mr. Parry would not relish listening to my speech."

More laboring men than ever assembled in Indiana will march in the parade to-morrow. The leafers are making a determined effort to have a complete representation of all trades and industries in the line, to furnish in this manner an object lesson of the futility of Parry's campaign even in his own State and his own city. "What can one say?" he replied quickly, Hugh T. Malloy and Thomas Stanton, nmates of the Poorhouse, wounded each other in a fight at the institution yesterday morning just before breakfast, and both men had to be beaten by attendants before they could be separated.

The men, it is said, have been enemies for several menths. A remark made by Malloy, it is said, angered Stanton and he resented the alleged insult with a he resented the alleged insult with a blow.

When the men grappled Stanton got one of Malloy's fingers between his teeth and bit it almost off. Malloy threw his adversary down and drew a knife, with which he inflicted a wound five inchesiong on Stanton's neck, exposing the jugitlar vein.

Half a dozen attendants surrounded the combatants, but despite their wounds, Malloy and Stanton continued the battle. Malloy had to be felled by a heavy blow before he could be subdued.

Doctor Adolph Mertz, physician at the institution, declares that Stanton's wound is serious. Malloy was treated also for a cut on the eye, sustained in the struggle to make him desist fighting.
